PLAN RELIGIOUS CENSUS IN TOWN

Gettysburg Ministerial Association will endeavor to learn the number of those who do not attend any Gettysburg Church.

The Gettysburg Ministerial Association decided at their regular monthly meeting on Monday to take a religious census of the town with the idea in view of getting a larger attendance and membership in the various churches.

The plan will be to divide the town into sections, the census of each of which will be under the direction of one minister. The ministers will not take the census but will have lay members of their congregations do the work.

Among the information which the association wishes to gather from this work will be the number attending the various churches, the number not attending any church, the number of children not attending Sunday School and the preference of people who do not attend any church.

With this last information it will be possible for a more systematic campaign to be followed to get into the churches of town those who do not now attend. It has been said that there are one thousand people in Gettysburg who never attend church and to secure their presence will be one of the aims and purposes of the census taking.

BOVE, REMEMBERED HERE, IS WELL TAKEN CARE OF

It has become public knowledge that Mrs. Joseph Drexel, who died recently, made provisions in her will for the establishment of a trust fund, placed in the hands of her daughter, Mrs. Josephine Drexel Emmert, of New York, to be expended in furthering the musical aspirations of Domenico A. Bove, a young Italian, who for the last four years has been a student in the Royal Academy of Music in Vienna, and who will be graduated from that famous institution next summer. Young Bove played here at several times, coming with Ralph P. Lewars and other Philadelphia musicians. Many local people met the boy and delighted in his work. More than $10,000 worth of bonds have been set aside by the heirs of the estate to be used in developing the young musician into a finished artist. Before going abroad young Bove studied under a recognized leader of music in Philadelphia. Mrs. Drexel took a practical interest in the young musician while a student here and abroad and his training has been made possible through her philanthropic work.

As a boy of nine years, Domenico brought tears to the eyes of listeners and pennies into his cap as he aided his father in supporting a large family by playing his violin in the streets of "Little Italy." The same boy, now nearly 20 years old, is known far and wide for his musical attainments. All Europe is singing the praises of the young Philadelphian and paying him the tribute of associating his name with that of the greatest violinists of the country. The transition from a downtown tenement house to the centre of musical culture was brought about by the practical interest Mrs. Drexel took in music and in struggling musicians, and through her the world has been given another genius who bids fair to add luster to the field of music.

FIRST COMMENCEMENT

The first county high school commencement will be held at Fairfield on Wednesday evening, April 3, when a class of nine will be graduated. The address will be made by Rev. Prof. Charles F. Sanders, of Gettysburg. Today County Superintendent Roth held an examination for the members of the graduating class.

DESTROYED BY FIRE

The frame dwelling house of Bruce L. and Bessie M. Crawford, situated at Blue Ridge Summit was totally destroyed by fire Monday afternoon. The blaze, it is thought, originated from an overheated stove. The house was a handsome dwelling. There is an insurance of $2000 on the house and $500 on the contents.

Mrs. Raffensperger died at her home Sunday, March 24, at 1:30 p. m. She was seventy years, five months and eight days old.

Mrs. Raffensperger was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fabs, late of Bigmouth. Her husband died many years ago. She is survived by two sons—Clayton, of Philadelphia, and Daniel, of York; and an only daughter, Mrs. Webster. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Ephraim Stauffer, Bigmouth, and nine grandchildren.

Funeral on Wednesday, March 27, brief services at the house at 8:30 a. m.; further services and interment at Mummert's Meeting House, near Abbotstown, the Revs. David Baker and Edward Miller, officiating.

DR. T. P. EGE

The Rev. Dr. Thompson Ege, aged 76 years, died early Sunday morning after one week's illness due to paralysis in New York City. Dr. Ege is remembered by many Gettysburgians as rector of the local Episcopal church.

He was graduated from Dickinson College in 1855, and began an active career as a teacher. In 1860 he became principal of the Cumberland Valley Institute and in 1865 retired from the institute to accept the presidency of Irving College. In 1883 he resigned and entered the ministry of the Episcopal church, having filled parishes in Gettysburg, Germantown and Philadelphia.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Albert Dodson, of New York; one brother, Professor A. H. Ege, of Mechanicsburg, and a sister Mrs. Edgar Zug, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Stone will be one of the prominent figures at the time of the visit to Gettysburg on Memorial Day of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Just now he is one of the foremost figures in the argument between the organization and the managers of about fifty railroads.

HEARS CLASSES BY TELEPHONE

New methods of teaching by correspondence and other ways have been outdone at Gettysburg College by a telephone system which has been put into force following the confinement of Prof. Richard S. Kirby in quarantine.

Prof. Kirby has charge of the engineering courses in the local institution and is quarantined at the home of Mrs. W. C. Sheely following the appearance of diphtheria in the family. Prof. Kirby could leave the house by following the requirements of the Board of Health regarding fumigation and so on but deemed it best to safeguard the college students thoroughly and so determined that he would stay away entirely.

In order that his work may not be interfered with by the three weeks' quarantine a system of reciting by telephone has been devised and the members of his classes will hold recitations over the telephone, the class meeting at the home of Dr. Granville and the professor hearing them from the other end of the wire.

Of course some of the work cannot be done in this manner and the other professors at college will attend to these branches. Miss Frances Sheely who contracted diphtheria is recovering nicely and no other cases are reported.

KICKED BY MULE

George Hall, aged 20 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hall, of Oxford township, was seriously injured while assisting to water several horses near the barn. He was kicked in the face by a colt, breaking the lower jaw in two places. Fortunately, the colt had no shoes on, thus avoiding more serious injury. Dr. J. L. Sheetz, of New Oxford, was hastily summoned, and rendered all possible relief. Although the injuries are of a very painful and serious nature, the young man was able to take nourishment in a liquid form on Saturday, and the indications are that he will recover.

FIREMEN'S CONVENTION

The local fire company has received invitation to the eleventh annual convention of the Cumberland Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association, which will be held at Waynesboro on June 4, 5 and 6, 1912. The committee announces that there will be hose reel races, hook and ladder races, engine contests, drill contests, band and contests, airship flights, and other attractions. General information will be sent out in a few weeks.

FIRST CARLOAD OF MARBLE HERE

Fine White Marble from Baker Quarries Received for Federal Building. Will be Followed by Many More.

The first of forty carloads of marble for the new federal building has arrived and is being viewed by many people, all of whom are impressed with its unusual beauty. The marble is almost pure white and of an exceptionally fine quality. The first car arrived Monday, nine more are on the way and forty in all will be required for the erection of the handsome new postoffice. It comes from Baker, Chester County.

Close inspection of the foundation walls laid last fall showed that frost had done some damage at the southwest corner and for the past several days masons have been at work tearing down this portion of the wall preparatory to rebuilding. The substantial character of the foundation is clearly demonstrated by the difficulty with which the masons have been taking down the defective portion, the concrete mortar holding the bricks so tightly that, frequently, the hard bricks have broken when an effort was made to dislodge them. It is considered most fortunate that the cold weather had no effect on any other part of the building.

The continued winter temperature has retarded greatly the work at the site for it was hoped by this time to have the granite course in place. As soon as this is finished the marble will be put in position, two large derricks being used and as soon as active operations are started rapid progress may be expected. The real beauty of the marble to be used will then become apparent.

RESPIRE GRANTED GILBERT

Leonidas W. Gilbert, the young colored man who murdered Daniel K. Miller, the Harrisburg hotelkeeper, has been granted a respite by Governor Tener.

The date for Gilbert's execution was fixed for March 26, but his counsel having asked the Board of Pardons for a continuance of his case, which was granted, it necessitated a respite. Governor Tener reached Harrisburg on Saturday afternoon and was informed of conditions, and he directed a respite to be issued, staying the time of execution from March 26 to April 25.

The Board of Pardons will meet on April 17, when the after-discovered evidence promised by Attorney Carter that he thinks will have an influence over the board and lead to the commutation of Gilbert's death sentence to imprisonment for life will be presented, and the board will at once take action.

Gilbert was informed of the respite and seemed to be much pleased over the Governor's action. It gives him at least a month more of life. He has been very devout for some time and occupies his time in prayer and devotions.

OVER NIGHT

"Over Night," the laugh-compelling comedy, comes to the New Colonial Theatre, Hanover, Thursday, March 28, direct from the Shubert Theatre, Boston, where it ran for three months to capacity houses. Created for laughing purposes only, it certainly fills the bill to the limit, for from the moment the curtain rises on the first scene of the opening act until the finale, the audience is convulsed. It all happens over night, and hinges upon the blunders of two newly married couples on their honeymoon. From the moment that they set foot upon the steamer, and make the mistake about their baggage, whereby the husband of one and the wife of the other start up the Hudson, until the last curtain falls and their escapades are happily explained, there is laughter and fun in volumes and the audience is overwhelmed.

EASTER CANTATA IN HOLY WEEK

Chautauqua Chorus will Give Easter Cantata on Wednesday Evening of Holy Week in Brua Chapel. The Program.

At the regular Monday evening rehearsal of the Chautauqua Chorus it was decided to render the Easter cantata on the evening of April third in Brua Chapel. The event will begin at eight o'clock, allowing all the churches time for their usual Wednesday evening services which will be of more than usual significance on account of Passion Week.

The original plan was to give the cantata on Easter Monday evening or on Easter Sunday afternoon but various considerations entered in and made either of these times impracticable so that Wednesday night of Holy Week was determined upon.

J. Lincoln Hall's "The Day of Resurrection" will be given by the chorus of about one hundred voices and the soloists will be Miss Reba Miller, Miss Pauline Rudisill, Edgar Miller and Calvin Hartman. In addition to the solos in the cantata there will be solos by Mrs. J. B. Baker, Miss Ruth Clutz, Mrs. R. E. Zinn and Miss Reba Miller and a duet by Miss Helen Rupp and Edgar Miller.

The two coronation hymns which will be remembered by all who heard the chorus sing at the Sunday School convention last fall will also be used. At Monday evening's rehearsal these two hymns, "Hail Him" and "Immanuel" were practiced and the manner in which they were sung showed the chorus to be thoroughly familiar with them.

No admission will be charged for the Easter cantata but an opportunity will be given to those who wish to contribute anything by the presence of a plate at the door.

CHAUTAUQUA FOR MECHANICSBURG

Plans are being laid for the Chautauqua which will likely locate in Mechanicsburg and which will offer a superior program of lectures, music, readings and entertainments. Ellis, the widely known journalist and traveler, whose articles on the world's unrest are attracting much attention; Dr. P. M. Pearson, in his charming masterpiece, "The Poetry of Life," and Mrs. George C. Pickett, the widow of the famous Confederate general, who will lecture on "Pickett's Charge at Gettysburg."

WICKERSHAM RAISES STORM IN SENATE

Refuses to Tell of International Harvester Company.

Washington, March 26. — Attorney General Wickersham raised a storm in the senate by refusing to supply information concerning the reorganization of the International Harvester company.

This information was asked for by a resolution adopted March 16. Senator Bacon took exception not only to the attorney general's action, but to the manner of communicating it.

Mr. Wickersham said in his letter that it was incompatible with the interest of the United States to supply the information desired, because the correspondence on file related to business which was unfinished.

Mr. Bacon declared the language to be discourteous, and that it appeared to him that the attorney general had forgotten that he was a creature of congress.

In his letter Mr. Wickersham said: "I am directed by the president to say that in my opinion it is not compatible to supply the information."

Mr. Borah said he did not see how the president could give instructions regarding the attorney general's opinion.

"Nor do I," responded Mr. Bacon. Several senators suggested that Mr. Bacon should move that the communication be not received, but he did not do so, and on motion of Mr. Lea it was laid on the table for consideration at another time.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 26. — Governor Hunt, of Arizona, occupied a cell Saturday night in the state penitentiary at Florence with Frank Howard, who is serving the last ten months of a three years' sentence for burglary.

Sunday morning the governor fell into line with the convicts and marched to the dining room, where he partook of the regular prison breakfast consisting of bread, beans, mush and black coffee.

On his return to Phoenix Governor Hunt said he believed all governors should be required to pass one night in prison, just as the Chinese emperors were required to turn one furrow of earth before ascending the throne.

Fair today; rain tomorrow; light winds.

The increasing scarcity of fur bearing animals is in no case better shown than in the prices paid for mink pelts now and a few years ago. The same large, dark, prime pelt that was selling fifteen years ago for $1.40 now fetches $7. In the same period prime skunk skins have advanced from 65 cents to $1.75 and muskrat from 11 to 40 cents.

The potato crop for the season past totaled 282,000,000 bushels, and while this yield was about 12 per cent below the five year average, owing to the higher prices prevailing it netted the growers $215,000,000, which was about 14 per cent above the return for the crop on a five year basis. At present a good many potatoes are being imported and are paying a duty of 25 cents per bushel.

In some sections of the west where homesteaders are settling on the big cattle ranges they seem to have adopted the motto of "free range, free beef" and have been enjoying a toothsome supply of fresh beef by killing steers now and then that happened to stray on their ranches. Naturally the cattlemen object to this procedure and in some instances have appealed to state authorities for protection. It was not so very long ago when it was the homesteaders who were the suppliants.

MEXICAN REBELS IN FIERCE BATTLE

Federal Force, Trapped, Fight Desperately.

FOURTH DAY OF STRUGGLE

Government Dead is Placed at 400 and Rebel Loss at 100 — Federals Are Without Food and Water.

Jimenez, Mex., March 26. — With General Blanquet, their commander, wounded, the 2000 federal soldiers, trapped near Corralitos by between 3000 and 4000 rebels Sunday morning, are fighting desperately to escape the cordon and retreat to Torreón.

Their losses have been tremendous, and they are without food and water. Four hundred dead are supposed to represent the federal loss, one hundred the rebel loss.

The battle opened early, the fourth day's consecutive fighting. When the fight opened the rebels practically had the federals surrounded on all sides, and the federals were weak and tired even at the beginning of the fight, as they dared not prepare anything to eat during the night, the rebels firing every time a camp fire blazed.

Generals Salas and Blanquet were both in command of the federals when the fighting opened. The report that Salas was wounded was unfounded. Blanquet was wounded during the day, however, leaving Salas alone in command.

The only hope of the federals was that General Tracy Aubert would be able to come up with reinforcements and break through one of the rebel lines so that the federal army might retreat. General Salazar, in command of the rebels, expressed no fear of this, however, as Aubert and his 500 cavalrymen, who are enroute from Mapimi, Durango, were reported at Cerro Gordo, thirty miles from the scene of the fighting.

The fighting has been desperate and much bravery has been shown on both sides. The dead and wounded loss is extremely heavy. The rebel wounded have been brought back to Jimenez. The federals are compelled to leave the wounded on the field under the fire of the rebels. Each succeeding report from the battlefield during the day was that the federals were literally cut to pieces.

The rebels have held the best positions in command of the hills, east and west, pouring a constant fire from artillery down on the federals.

Machine guns have also been kept working into the federal ranks from the north, with the rebels in the rear also keeping up a constant fire. The rebels, through their position, have been suffering but little, while food, water and ammunition have been running low with the federals.

Heavy artillery from the rebels has arrived at Jimenez, but was not sent south. Five hundred fresh soldiers from Jimenez were sent to Corralitos to relieve the men fighting in the front ranks.

WIFE SHOT ME, SAYS GRACE

Says She Was Tired of Him and Wanted Insurance Money.

Newman, Ga., March 26. — "In addition to wanting the insurance money I made payable to her at her insistence, my wife had grown tired of me. I had decided that for several weeks before she shot me I wasn't interesting to her any longer, so at one and the same time she thought she would get rid of me and secure the money."

This was the statement of Eugene H. Grace, the victim of the mysterious shooting in Atlanta. He made it after being reminded of doctors' repeated assertions that he had only a few weeks to live.

He is at the home of his mother, where he was brought Saturday night from the hospital in Atlanta. Grace's wife, Mrs. Daisy Opie Grace, of Philadelphia, is in Atlanta awaiting a hearing on Thursday.

Scratched Man Held as Murder Suspect

Minneapolis, Minn., March 26. — Searching for clues to the murder of Miss Alice Mathews, a young floor mill worker, who was assaulted and strangled half a block from her home, the police arrested a man on suspicion, and are investigating his story that numerous scratches on his face were received during a fight on a street car.

GIVES $50,000 TO EMPLOYEES

Fifty Faithful Workers Receive Rewards For Long Service.

Philadelphia, March 26. — Fifty of the employees in the Schlachter Jute and Cordage works, at Trenton and Erie avenues, are thanking Isaac Schlachter, Sr., the proprietor of that plant, for the unusual manner in which he expressed his appreciation of their long service.

At the close of the day these employees were called to the office of the company, where they received checks ranging in amount from $500 to $2000.

Before the presentation Isaac Schlachter, Jr., made a speech, in which he said his father felt much of his success had been due to the faithful service of his employees.

Of the men and women who were thus rewarded, one had been employed by the firm for fifty-three years. Four had served more than forty years, ten more than thirty years, eight more than twenty-five years, ten more than twenty years, and seventeen more than fifteen years. The sums were proportioned according to the length of service.

PACKERS' CASE NOW IN HANDS OF JURY

Government Counsel Denounces Defendants.

Chicago, March 26. — The case of the ten Chicago packers, who, the government charges, have violated the criminal section of the Sherman anti-trust law, went to the jury.

The closing argument, delayed since Friday by the illness of a juror, was delivered by Special Counsel Pierce Butler for the government. It was a scathing arraignment of the acts of the packers. The counsel repeatedly asserted that the government had established its case beyond question.

United States District Judge Carpenter's charge was an interpretation of the Sherman act. Following this he instructed the jury regarding the exclusion of certain testimony which was given concerning one group of the defendants and did not apply to the other defendants.

A short conference between counsel and the court followed, and the jury retired to consider its verdict, which will bring to a close a trial which has lasted since Dec. 6, 1911, more than three months.

120,000 GET PAY INCREASE

New England Textile Operatives Start Work on New Basis.

Boston, March 26. — More than 120,000 textile operatives in New England received a general advance in wages when the increases announced recently by many cotton and woolen manufacturers went into effect.

The advances varied from 5 to 10 per cent, but with the exception of the 35,000 persons employed in the mills owned by the manufacturers of Fall River, where a 10 per cent raise has been granted, the operatives will not know the exact amount of their increase until payday.

Most of the workers affected are employed in mills in Massachusetts, the number being estimated at 93,000. In Rhode Island 25,000 persons had their pay raised. Approximately 3,000 operatives in New Hampshire went to work on the increased wage schedule, while in Vermont 900 received more money.

A COSTLY FIASCO.

If some of the would be statesmen that are representing or misrepresenting us down at Washington would get their hands off the political wires long enough to pass a law which will provide for the rigid federal inspection of all imported nursery stock at port of entry and the immediate destruction of all consignments found diseased or infested with the eggs or nests of destructive insects they would confer an inestimable benefit upon the vast horticultural interests of the country. Secretary Wilson is authority for the statement that the United States is practically the only civilized country having horticultural interests of any importance which does not require rigid inspection of imported nursery stock. For lack of the protection which such laws would have given our orchards are infested with various imported scale insects, while the brown-tailed moth is another pest which has been imported into the country regularly through lack of federal inspection laws and which is doing untold damage to orchards and shade trees in eastern states. It may not be impertinent to inquire how long this fiasco that Secretary Wilson refers to is going to continue.

$2500 A YEAR NET.

An Iowa farmer who bought a quarter section farm five years ago at $8000 has in the meantime kept an accurate account of all receipts and expenditures. He finds that besides keeping his family in comfortable circumstances he saved $2500 a year. He figures that there has been an average increase in the value of his land per acre of $5 per acre, which, added to his net revenue, means that his income from the place has been net $3200 yearly. Quite likely this is a good deal better than owners of 100 acre farms will average, but it shows what can be done. It would be interesting to know how many husky boys this farmer had helping him with the farm operations.

Reports have been frequent lately of instances in which small grain has been milled when put in granaries with solid cement floors built directly on the ground. The trouble seems to be caused by the cement gathering dampness. This trouble can be overcome by laying the cement on forms which can be removed when the cement has hardened, or a plan recommended and seeming to have much in its favor is the laying of several tiers of tile horizontally on the area to be used as a floor and lay the cement on this, which would give ample circulation of air and would make the floor as completely vermin proof as would a bed of solid cement.

670,000 MINERS READY TO STRIKE

Soft and Hard Coal Agreements Expire on Saturday.

THE SITUATION IS UNIQUE

Contracts With All Operators Expire at the Same Time—There is Still Hope For Compromise.

New York, March 26.—The country is face to face with the greatest coal strike in its history.

Unless the unexpected happens and the operators and miners arrive at some compromise in the meantime, 170,000 anthracite miners will quit work on Saturday of this week, and, according to President John P. White, of the United Mine Workers of America, 500,000 bituminous miners will walk out with them.

The demands of the bituminous miners will be taken up again by the joint conference in Cleveland, where the opposing sides were deadlocked last week.

The agreement under which the anthracite miners have been working for the last nine years expires at noon on March 31. If no new agreement is reached by that time the strike will begin automatically, unless all negotiations between the representatives of operators and miners are broken off entirely beforehand, in which case the strike will be directly and definitely ordered by the union officials.

Anthracite operators awaited with much interest the result of the deliberations in Cleveland of the policy committee of the United Mine Workers, representing both the anthracite and bituminous mine workers, which purposes to act on the refusal of the demands of both the soft coal and hard coal miners.

While the operators are giving out no information concerning their purposes or plans, it was learned that influences were at work to force them and their employees to come to some agreement. The operators have heard unofficially that the hard coal miners would be quite satisfied to waive most of their demands if they could secure an increase in wages, but to raise the wages, the operators say, will make it necessary to increase the price of coal, which they expressed themselves as being unwilling to do.

A coal strike of only a few weeks would mean the paralysis of every industry dependent upon coal, including railroads, factories, steamboats, electric light, power and gas companies, entire cities will be plunged into darkness, and business in general will come to a standstill.

In the event that the strike should last for any number of months the total loss to miners, operators and business in general would amount to close to the almost unbelievable sum of $100,000,000.

All of the demands of the hard coal miners for changes in the existing agreement have been refused by the operators, who on their part have offered counter-propositions that amount practically to the old agreement.

The miners demand a 20 per cent increase in wages; recognition of the union and that the operators collect the union dues from the miners by deducting them from their wages; an eight-hour day; payment by the ton instead of by the carload; abolishment of the conciliation board, which is composed of both miners and operators, and that the new agreement be for one year, instead of for three, as the operators insist.

What is true of the anthracite field in eastern Pennsylvania is also true of the bituminous fields in western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, as well as in the twenty-eight states in which soft coal is mined, because for the first time the agreements of the hard coal miners and the soft coal miners end on the same day. Heretofore these agreements expired a year apart, and therefore when the hard coal men were striking the soft coal men were mining coal, and vice versa. Consequently the situation was nothing like as serious as it will be in the event that the strike now threatened eventuates.

The bituminous miners are, like the anthracite miners, also fighting for higher wages. Recently they asked for a 10 per cent increase in wages, and were met with a cut of 10 per cent. Their discontent in some quarters against the operators is greater even than that of the anthracite workers.

BANDITS IN MOTOR SLAY 3 NEAR PARIS

Paris, March 26.—The automobile bandits, who in February terrorized many districts of France by carrying out an extraordinary series of crimes, during the past few days have perpetrated a fresh series of daring crimes, resulting in the death of three men.

On the public highway between Villeneuve-St. Georges and Paris, a gang of four bandits, in an automobile, ordered the chauffeur of a private motor car to stop. When he refused the highwaymen shot him dead and also wounded the occupant of the car.

After throwing the chauffeur's body into the ditch by the roadside the bandits entered their automobile and drove toward Paris.

A band of brigands bearing all the appearances of being the authors of the morning hold-up arrived in an automobile at Chantilly, the racing center. Four of the men, armed with revolvers, entered the local branch of a Paris bank, where they shot the cashier and another employee dead and dangerously wounded a third man.

The four ruffians then seized a portfolio containing $8000 in notes. A fifth bandit was in the meantime keeping guard at the door of the bank with a loaded carbine, while a sixth stood ready at the steering wheel of the motor car. The murderers dashed out, jumped on the motor and started at full speed in the direction of Paris.

The alarm had meanwhile been raised, but pursuit was wasted off by the bandits with repeated shots. They subsequently abandoned the automobile, which was discovered at Asnières, a suburb just outside of Paris. There is little doubt that the automobile had been stolen by them.

SENTENCE TAXICAB BANDIT

New York, March 26. — Eugene Splaine, one of the ringleaders of the taxicab highwaymen, who robbed two bank messengers of $25,000, was sentenced to jail for not less than seven years and six months, and not more than fourteen years and six months by Judge Swann in the court of general sessions.

Splaine pleaded guilty. Before that he made a confession to the police which aided them in preparing cases against the other members of the band.

TRENTON URGES RECALL

Trenton Citizens Would Oust City Commissioner Burk.

Trenton, N. J., March 26.—A petition signed by about 1500 persons has been circulating here for the recall of City Commissioner William F. Burk, director of streets and parks.

The grounds for the recall, it is said, is his lack of decision. There is considerable talk of starting a similar petition against Commissioner J. Ridgeway Fell for greatly increasing the expenses of the engineering department.

For Lower Tariff on Cotton Goods.

Washington, March 26.—The report of the tariff board on the cotton schedule, which will be sent to congress by the president within a day or two, will warrant a reduction of about 30 per cent in the Payne-Aldrich tariff law rates. It has been known for some time that the report of the tariff board would show that substantial reductions should be made in the cotton schedule.

RAILWAYS REFUSE TO RAISE WAGES

Reject Demands Presented by the Engineers.

EASTERN LINES AFFECTED

Requested Increase Amounts to $7,553,792 Annually or Over 18 Per Cent.

New York, March 26.—The reply of the eastern railroads to the demands of the locomotive engineers for a general increase in wages, which was handed to the conference committee of the engineers by the committee of twelve railroad managers, was a denial of the demands.

Figures were given to show that a standardization of the wages on all the roads, which was demanded by the engineers, was impracticable, and it was stated that these demands, if they could be granted, would be followed by demands by the other railroad employees, which if granted would be disastrous to the railroads themselves. They say that the proposed increase in wages and changes in working conditions would total $7,553,782.74, or 18.63 per cent annually.

When the committee of the locomotive engineers came back to the Broadway Central hotel, Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who is the spokesman for the committee, called a meeting to act on the reply of the railroads.

He was asked before the meeting if the committee had the power to call a strike.

"I cannot call a strike," he said, "but it can order that a referendum vote be taken on the question of calling a strike." He also said that the engineers were in good condition for a strike.

The demands he said effected 25,700 engineers who were in the Brotherhood and some 2000 non-union engineers. The railroads on which they worked did more than half the traffic of the United States.

The meeting of the engineers' committee lasted about two hours. At the conclusion of the meeting Grand Chief Stone sent out a committee to see the reporters. The spokesman of the committee said that a reply had been sent to the committee, representing the railroads, stating that the engineers' committee had rejected the proposition of the railroads.

"We have reaffirmed our requests of Jan. 22," he said, "and have informed the committee of the railroads to that effect."

On a reporter remarking that the reply of the railroads was simply a declaration of the demands and contained no new proposition, he said that the engineers would not recede from their position.

The reply of the engineers as received by the railroad managers was that if the conference committee of the railroads had nothing further to advise the entire question would be submitted to the engineers employed on the roads represented for final action.

Grand Chief Stone said it would take a two-thirds vote of all the men involved to declare a strike. Even then he had power to veto a strike if a strike were declared.

It was said that mediation under the Erdman act would be probably resorted to in case of a strike vote. This act cannot be appealed to until a crisis is reached. Such a crisis would be reached if the engineers voted for a strike.

PROPERTY SALES VOID

Court's Decision Invalidates Land Sold For Taxes.

Pottsville, Pa., March 26. — Judge Koch handed down a sweeping order granting an injunction restraining County Treasurer Fred Wiest from selling several hundred properties known as "seated lands," the sale of which was advertised for June 2, because of non-payment of taxes.

The court holds that the act of 1901 prohibits the sale of improved property for taxes.

The court's decision invalidates all the sales of seated lands which have taken place since 1901. This will make a big mix-up in titles, as all the property sold by former Treasurers Doeringer, Lee and Palmer come under the ruling, making probably a thousand or more.

Baby Dying From Toothache Drops.

New York, March 26.—Max, the six-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Binsky, of 544 Wendover avenue, the Bronx, was dosed with toothache drops by his brother Isaac, and was taken in a dying condition to Fordham hospital. Mrs. Binsky had bought the medicine for a toothache from which she suffered, and Isaac found the bottle on the sideboard.

The Vatican doctors hope to be able to allow the pontiff to continue his private audiences soon.

CHESTNUT BARK DISEASE.

Locating and Fighting Infection Centers Only Known Means of Control.

The chestnut bark disease was first recognized as a serious disease in the vicinity of New York city in 1904, and the first publication regarding it appeared in 1906. There is reliable evidence, however, that it was present on Long Island at least as early as 1893. Its origin is unknown, but there is some evidence that it was imported from the Orient with the Japanese chestnut. This view is not, however, held by all investigators. But, whatever may have been its time or place of origin, it is certain that it has now spread into at least ten states.

The bark disease appears ultimately to exterminate the chestnut trees in any locality which it infests. Three years ago the financial loss from this disease "in and about New York city" was estimated at "between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000." The agricultural department writers regard $25,000,000 as a conservative estimate of the financial loss from this disease up to 1911. In many localities the greatest damage has been among chestnuts grown for ornamental purposes, which have a value greatly in excess of their value as lumber.

No method of immunizing individual trees against the bark disease is yet known, and no method of treating or curing them when once attacked is certain in its results. While this is unfortunate from the standpoint of the owner of orchard trees and large ornamental trees of great individual value, no method of dealing with single trees—surgery, medication, spraying, etc.—however successful in itself, would meet the demands of the present situation. It is not practicable at present to apply any individual method of treatment to forest trees; the individual tree is not worth it and will not be for many years.

Fortunately, however, there is a method of dealing with the situation which is applicable to the country as a whole and which, so far as tested, is practicable. The disease advances but slowly in a solid line, but instead spreads from isolated centers of infection, often many miles in advance of the main line of disease. It therefore seemed probable that if these advance infections could be located at a reasonably early stage they could be eliminated at relatively little expense, thus preventing further spread from these points at least. It is believed that this method of attack will prove practicable and if carried out on a large scale will result ultimately in the control of the bark disease which has done so much damage.

Value of Enslage.

To the up to date and progressive dairyman and to the most advanced cattle feeders the use of the silo and the feeding of ensilage are recognized as being necessary to the greatest success in their respective lines of business.

KURIOS FROM KORRESPONDENTS

Q. I paid $10 for a setting of White Rock eggs, and the twelve chicks hatched were not pure white. Should they not be pure white if pure bred? A. White Rock chicks in the down are apt to come white, canary, smoky, grayish black, buff, and cannot be judged as to color until feathers appear. We have seen them almost black, then feather into silver white.

Q. I have a Leghorn cockerel with some white in the face, and I notice the standard disqualifies Mediterranean cockerels and pullets with "positive white" in the face. How may I tell whether it is "positive white" or just common ordinary white? A. Rub the white spot with the finger. If it turns red and remains so for several seconds it is not "positive white." By such friction this "enamel white" is often removed if persisted in.

Q. What do you think makes my pigeons desert their eggs and squabs? They only feed what squabs are hatched a few days. A. There are a number of reasons for this excitement, mice or ticks in the nest and the battles, flirtations, family jars and elopements caused by unmated birds in the loft.

Q. What is a "squirrel tail" and what is a "coop tail"? A. The word "squirrel" is applied to a fowl's tail when it projects toward the head beyond a perpendicular line drawn from juncture of back and tail. The squirrel tail is inherited and permanent, but the coop tail is acquired by fowls that are confined in a small show coop. When given more room they drop their tails back to natural position.

Q. Is it true that Canada ships more eggs into this country than we send back? A. Our shipment last year was 1,000,000 eggs and Canada's 480,000.

A reader of this department who lives at Reed City, Mich., in a recent letter calls attention to the interesting fact that as a result of investigations which have been carried on it is now contended that fruit raising can be carried on in Michigan over a much wider area than was formerly supposed. In support of this statement our correspondent calls attention to the fact of the clearing of one 3,000 acre tract not far from where he lives, all of which is to be set to fruit trees as soon as cleared. He also speaks in high terms of a fruit and land show that was held a short time since in Grand Rapids, where choice fruit put up in the western box fashion was on display. In this connection it may be added the Michigan fruit grower has a distinct advantage over his western competitor, namely, nearness to good markets. When he will take as much pains in the care and spraying of his trees and in the packing of his fruit he will receive correspondingly satisfactory prices for his stuff.
